

Inspiring young women to be leaders through music education, performance excellence and service.

#GIVING TUESDAY

Spirito has so much to be thankful for.

Our amazing staff who has worked tirelessly to weather this pandemic storm. Our outstanding conductors and instructors who share their expertise and love of music with our singers in our virtual classrooms. And our singers themselves for their beautiful souls, their willingness to share, and their resilient spirits.

Spirito has taken on special meaning for our community this season.
Here's what one of our wonderful singers has to say:

My name is Natasha Lumb. I joined Spirito in the Fall of 2019 where I was welcomed by a group of amazing musicians. From there I have seen myself grow in numerous ways. I can't explain all the ways Spirito has wonderfully impacted me, but one thing that I can say is that Spirito is magical. It is a community where talented singers come together, feel at home and create beautiful music. While the pandemic has temporarily stopped our normal in-person joining, we've learned we can still be a community via zoom.

This fall Spirito offered a variety of classes so we can continue our music education. I took the Vocal Technique and Songwriting classes. It was so inspiring to see my Spirito Sisters again and to see us grow together, even in this unusual situation.

During all of this uncertainty, I feel one thing that hasn't changed is my love for music and my love for creating it. A huge thank you to Spirito for all they've done to help me remain steady and focused. And thank you for making such an impact on my life and many others by spreading the magical feeling that music gives.

We're thankful for all who support and believe in Spirito's mission to inspire growth and leadership. This has been a tough year for so many. Spirito has seen some drastic revenue losses. If you're celebrating #GivingTuesday, we hope you'll consider a gift to Spirito as we make careful preparations to meet again for live rehearsals in a few short months. We look forward to getting our singers back together and sharing their talent, growth and beautiful music with you all once again.

Thank you. We hope you are safe and well.

With gratitude,

Mary Jean Adkins & Carling FitzSimmons
